My focus for my drawing portfolio was plants. This is one 16x20 piece made with ink.

Image of grapes drawn with colored pencils.
Mixed media piece on wood made with layering paint, pen, water, and paper

Flowers drawn with Prisma colored pencils and pen
This was called the modular project, I made one module and created 20 other duplicates to construct this sculpture.

We were instructed to make an object out of wire. I created the body of the scissors (all the black wire) out of one continuous strand of wire, never cutting it until the very end.

CHAPTER 4: SPACES THAT ENLIGHTEN

1. Mulan Primary School
   "We were impacting the people of China in a really basic way."
   Celebrates the local
   Each classroom has its own identity

2. Arcus Center
   For the LGBTQ+ community
   Designed to publicly & proudly showcase the social justice work they facilitate
   How do you want people to feel when they walk in?

3. Women's Opportunity Center
   Focused on empowerment
   As well as focusing on women who lived in countries that were affected by war & conflict
   Give them a room of their own
   Heal & learn to grow
   Built with over 500,000 bricks made & laid by women

Cordwood Masonry
Walls made out of stone logs placed in wall with one end exposed. Acts as extra insulation, which is an advantage in the Michigan climate.

My definition of a temple is a place where anyone can go to feel calm, peace, and safety, no matter the reason for them being there. A temple should be a place of refuge and protection.

In my eyes, a temple must have radical inclusion, meaning everybody is welcome. No discrimination towards any specific person, race, or gender, each and every person is allowed and should receive the exact same treatment as everyone else. Everyone is included.

For my temple, I chose to represent plants, and more specifically eucalyptus leaves. I have always been fascinated by eucalyptus leaves and the intense beauty of them. I chose to portray eucalyptus leaves in my design because the eucalyptus tree represents the division of the underworld, earth, and heaven. Eucalyptus leaves have a purifying effect and negative energy disappears in the place where you burn eucalyptus leaves. It acts as a cleanser of evil. I really wanted to incorporate this aspect in my temple because at burning man, as my temple is burned, it will cleanse the area and get rid of all negative energy.
